WATER BOARD CAN'T REDUCE PRESENT RATES

Request of Kingston Taxpayers' Association is Answered by Citing Reports of Certified Public Accountant—Board Retires $36,000 Worth of Bonds Annually.

Bonds amounting to $36,000 which the Kingston water board must meet each year makes it impossible to reduce water rates. To clear up an impression which is said to be prevalent in the city, that the water board is making money and could easily afford to reduce rates, the following correspondence between the Kingston Taxpayers' Association and the water board was given out for publication today:

The Taxpayers' Association, Kingston, N. Y., February 9, 1921.

Board of Water Commissioners, Kingston, N. Y.

My Dear Sirs:—At the last regular meeting of the Taxpayers' Association of Kingston, N. Y., a resolution was offered and carried that a letter be directed to the board of water commissioners saying that the charge for extra faucets is out of proportion to water used and that a reduction should be given to consumers and that charges for extra faucets be merely nominal or in proportion to water used, and in accordance with such direction, I am writing your board.

Very truly yours,
JOHN T. CASHILL, Secretary.

Water Works Department, City of Kingston, N. Y., Office City Hall, Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 14, 1921.

John T. Cashill, Secretary, Taxpayers' Association, Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:—Your letter of the 9th inst. relative to the reduction of charge for extra faucets was placed before the board of water commissioners at their meeting held Feb. 10, 1921, and given due consideration. In connection with your request, the commissioners desire that the attention of your association be directed to the report of E. G. Woodling, C. P. A., to the mayor and common council at the time of his annual audit of the books of this department; said report being dated Dec. 3, 1920. From this report we quote as follows:

"It is also pertinent that most cities in the state of New York have increased the water rates, while Kingston has practically maintained the present rates, which are extremely reasonable."

"The board has retired the usual annual installment of $36,000 bonds which matured during the year. In connection with this financing the board wishes to remove the impression that seems to be abroad, that the water works is making money over and above the necessities of its operation and indebtedness. This sentiment is based on a false conception of the facts, as shown by the following:

	Bonds Retired	Surplus Earnings
1918	$36,000 00	$29,514 84
1919	36,000 00	30,525 66
1920	36,000 00	42,167 79
	$108,000 00	$102,208 29
Required from loans and advance collections to balance...		5,791 71

$108,000 00

It is also proper to state at this time that on account of the high cost of labor and material, very little extra work has been done by this department during the past two years. If the usual amount of such work had been done, the surplus would have been reduced accordingly. Under these conditions a reduction in rates, as suggested by your letter, would mean a deficit in the finances of this department which would have to be met by a demand on the general fund of the city which, in turn, would be passed on to the taxpayers of Kingston.

Yours respectfully,
ALFRED W. TONGUE,
Assistant Secretary.

NEW YORKERS LOUSE

As well as immigrants, says Dr. Woodward.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Feb. 17.—The United States in New York appears to have been greatly exaggerated in the number of the foreign quarantine cases and the number of immigrants. Dr. Woodward, health commissioner of New York, who has been in an interview to the press, said that he had found that the number of immigrants was not so large as it had been reported to be. He said that the number of immigrants was not so large as it had been reported to be. He said that the number of immigrants was not so large as it had been reported to be.

ONE ALDERMAN ALREADY OPPOSED

And in No Uncertain Terms William B. Martin Demanded Zoning Plan And Calls On Property Owners To See That Their Alderman Smother This "Idealist Dream."

To the Citizens of Kingston: The matter of zoning Kingston will be put up to the board of aldermen when they meet on March 1st. Mayor Canfield having drafted an ordinance which he will submit at that time.—(Taken from Daily Freeman, February 15.)

This matter of laying out a city in zones is no doubt a clever idea, providing a city is in its infancy, and just beginning to build up—but, as for our old Colonial City of Kingston, we are now too far advanced for a zoning system and up to the present we have had only several buildings erected or altered in residential sections and made over into factories or garages.

There are arguments for and against zoning and a few in opposition to this "idealist" plan are: First—It puts the factory, garage, hotel, tenement house, etc., grounds or lots in the hands of certain few who may put a price on it for that purpose that will force a purchaser who wishes to locate in our city to look elsewhere.

Second—It prevents competition with the person who has a suitable site for any of the above buildings in a zone just as suitable, but classed as a residential zone, although the lot might be so situated that it would not be objectionable or unsightly in the latter section.

Third—It prevents the owner of a piece of property or lot from disposing of it to a customer to build whatever kind of a building the lot or property may be best suited for. Say, for instance, the purchaser wishes to erect a private dwelling, because the location of the lot is near his work, and the said lot is situated in the tenement zoning section. This ordinance if enacted will force this man if he wishes to buy this lot or property to build according to the zone said lot is listed in.

Fourth—Suppose you have an attractive lot, classed according to the zoning system to be in the private dwelling section, and you find that conditions and the size of said lot would warrant a safe investment by building a four-family house. According to the zoning system you can only build a private dwelling.

Fifth—The man or men who want to locate a factory or garage at a city do not, as a rule, pick out a residential or well neighborhood to build. They look over the entire city and build where they find shipping facilities and business conditions look the most prosperous. Sometimes, rare cases of spite, will force the erection of such buildings in these localities, but it is so seldom, and it is only a matter of a short time that conditions force them out, that this spite injustice has got to be a thing of the past.

One could go on with a long list of reasons why the people of Kingston should rise up in indignation and enter a protest of disapproval to this zoning system. But the real and one big question is: "Are you going to say what you will do with your property or are you going to let the other fellow tell you what you must do in regard to disposing of it or the erecting of a building on it?"

The whole trouble in our country today is caused by similar laws being forced through with only the rosy side of the "idealist" shown to the people. The sooner the other fellow takes care of his own business and leaves off telling this and that man what he can and cannot do, the better all concerned will be. It's all right for the other fellow with his feet upon the desk to figure these "dreams" out, but it's another thing to put these same "dreams" into laws, without following the rights of every fellow-man.

ABBOTT'S USUAL BIG CALENDAR

Although his calendar was large, Deputy Commissioner Abbott of the state industrial commission, disposed of all claims for compensation that were ready at his hearing Wednesday at the court house.

In the matter of the claim of the Andrew Wrinn estate, the claim was thrown out. Mr. Wrinn, who lived on Sycamore street, this city, was employed by the Hanrahan Brick and Ice Company, and was found drowned in the river. The compensation insurance was carried by the London Guarantee and Accident Company and the claim had been allowed heretofore by the state compensation commission. The widow being allowed $16.34 a week, there being four children. The carrier, which is represented by D. G. Atkins in Kingston, failed the point that the claim had been wrongfully made to the state as Mr. Wrinn's case came under the maritime law and must be made to the federal government. It seems Mr. Wrinn had been employed on the brickyard but a few days before he had been transferred to a large ship as captain or watchman, and while so employed in some manner fell into the Hudson river and was drowned. He was missing one morning and later his body was found.

ROTARY HEARS OF GIRL SCOUTS

And Need of Financial Support to Revive Work Here—Membership Then Furnishes Own Diversion.

Mrs. Flora B. Mundy, an official in the national organization of Girl Scouts, presented the cause of that organization at the Rotary Club dinner Wednesday evening. The Scouts, according to Mrs. Mundy, do not aim to take the place of the school, the home or the church, but to supplement their work. Conditions now are not as they were in the days of our grandfathers and we must be prepared to meet and deal with them. Training of girls is as necessary as the training of boys, for the work of years of good training may be undone in an hour by a girl who has not received the right training. It is better to build a fence at the top of a precipice than to build a hospital at the bottom of it. The speaker closed by urging that the work be given adequate financial support.

The regularly prepared program of the evening was taken up and proved extremely entertaining, none the less so because of the need to provide substitutes for some of the talent that was not present. After the guests of the evening, this being ladies' night, had been welcomed in a few well chosen and heartfelt words by Samuel Waite the speaker briefly but fervently exhorted husbands to make confidants of their wives, of course using discretion, but "always telling your wife all about yourself—that is all that you think she ought to know."

The Rotary four minute speakers, especially organized and thoroughly drilled for this occasion (without their knowledge or consent) were then permitted to hold forth in a dignified, scholarly and profound manner. "When Hamlet Was a Boy," by his little playmate, Frank Thompson, was the first number on this program and the subject was handled in a most scholarly manner by Mr. Thompson, who explained that while a hamlet was a small village it was also a small ham and there were lots of "hams" in some hamlets. As a motto for housewives puzzling over the family menu he suggested "when in doubt let hams do it."

In the next number, "Pearls of Price," by Sam Scudder, the speaker proved his right to the title of club jewel expert by producing and introducing the pearl of his selection. Right at this point further proceedings were stayed until the Rotarians sang, "I've Got a Gal An' You've Got None."

"Practical Cooperation"—A symposium of affiliated professions, Frank Johnston, Arthur Carr and Bill Elling, who found their relations defined in 11 Chronicles, xvi, 12-14, had to be modified because of the absence of Dr. Johnston and Mr. Carr, but Frank Messinger very ably represented the medical profession as a substitute and William Dugan spoke for the undertakers, feeling himself to be competent by reason of the success of his most recent and greatest undertaking. Mr. Elling spoke for himself, but briefly, as he said he saw little chance for the apothecary after the doctor and the undertaker had done their work.

After The Only Quartet had rehearsed the selections to be given at the Retail Branch dinner, it was announced that "Dave Hawk" will now swoop down on the poultry yard and do his worst for four minutes, which Mr. Hawk proceeded to do in an extremely witty speech.

In the symposium on "Gas," which closed the program, Sydney Hudson substituted for the Gas Company speaker who was absent, Vincent A. Gorman substituted for Mayor Canfield, Clark Snyder spoke for himself and the Taxpayers' Association was also represented by an eloquent speaker. Appropriately, after this number, "Sweet and Low," was sung, "sweet" probably referring to the color of the gas and "low" to the price.

The chairman of the entertainment committee closed the program by turning off the gas.

GERMANS' HOPE VAIN.

No Interference By America Expected in London.

London, Feb. 17.—Germany's hope that America will interfere in her favor regarding the indemnity are regarded here as extremely foolish, says the diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph today, in commenting upon the speech of Dr. Walter Zimmer, German foreign minister.

The newspaper forecasts that there is no chance of America interfering in behalf of Germany.

The Times' suggests that the Germans be met on their own grounds and spoken to in their own language after the manner in which General Hoffman banned the peace table with his fist during the Russian conference at Brest-Litovsk.

At Lake Katrine Tonight.

A social will be held at the Grassy Hill at Lake Katrine tonight. A musical program has been arranged, and the services of Fred Van Dusen, the local musician, have been secured to add to the musical entertainment. Ice cream and cake will be served later in the evening.

HAROLD JOHNSON IS H. S. COACH

Friday afternoon in the local high school gymnasium, the Kingston high school varsity and midget basketball teams will line up against the Poughkeepsie high school varsity and second teams.

Last week the local varsity team went to the bridge city to play an exhibition game and lost out to the Poughkeepsie quintet.

Harold Johnson, an old-time K. H. S. star three-letter man, has taken the place of Jack Hall as coach and is working hard to produce a winning team for his alma mater. Johnson knows basketball and is a player of fame, being a forward on the Triangle and Tiger fives which have been winning teams. With the knowledge of the game that he has acquired from playing on such teams, Johnson can surely teach the high school lads a few tricks which they do not already know.

Both of the games on Friday afternoon will be battles to the finish and well worth seeing. Poughkeepsie is out to uphold her supremacy in basketball while the local boys are going to try to take a fall out of them.

The first game will commence at about 3:15 o'clock.

SURELY THIS IS WEIGHTY PROBLEM

What Is a Man Without a Job, And Who Can't Land a Job, To Do With Himself Between Now And March 15, When He Expects To Marry?

This morning a stranger, wearing a weebone look and a ragged overcoat, strolled into the city hall with a problem on his hands that had proven too complex and complicated for him to solve, and which he trusted some of the more able brains in the city hall might be able to unravel.

"Well what's the trouble?" asked the first man he accosted, as he entered the building.

"You see it's this way," explained the stranger shyly, "I have lost my job, and I can't buy a job, and I would like to know what I am going to do with myself between now and March 15."

"Why look so far ahead?" asked the man.

"Well you see it's this way," explained the stranger, "I expect to get married on March 15."

"Is your intended working?" asked the man.

"Sure," replied the stranger, "She's got a good job and is making fine wages."

"Then your problem is solved," said the man in a triumphant voice.

"How is that?" asked the stranger.

"Get married today, and don't wait until March," replied the man.

"Hugh!" grunted the stranger. "I guess you don't know the one I expect to marry. When she fixes a date there is nothing on this earth can break it except death, and she said we would get apliced March 15, and not a day sooner. I guess you'll have to come again."

The first man, however, gave it up, and turned the stranger over to another. It does seem strange but the ordinary man will attempt to solve another man's difficulties, but when it comes to solving his why then he is "up a tree."

"What's the trouble?" asked the second man briskly as he rubbed his hands together.

The stranger's eyes brightened, and he murmured to himself "Now this looks like a man who can tell me what to do."

After he had unfolded his tale the second man stopped rubbing his hands long enough to say "And she is making enough now to support you both?"

"Hub, hub," crunched the stranger. "Have you tried to talk her into getting married this month instead of March?"

"Now look here man," said the stranger, beginning to grow a trifle vexed. "This here problem ain't so easy as she sounds. You don't know any woman or you would not ask such foolish questions."

"That so," retorted the second man, looking rather sarcastic. "I'll tell you and the world that the only way to solve your problem is to get out and hustle up a job."

"You got a job for me?" asked the stranger eagerly.

"I have not," retorted the second man.

"And that's what they all say," replied the stranger sadly. "I guess you'll have to come again too."

"What's all the trouble?" asked a third man briskly as he appeared on the scene.

The stranger's problem was submitted, and also the solutions offered by the other two men.

The third man scratched his head thoughtfully and then said "I have it. You just place yourself under arrest on a charge of vagrancy and the judge will send you to the county jail until the day before your wedding. In that way you solve the problem of what to do for yourself without a job, you have a place to sleep, enough to eat and no danger of getting your toes chilled if the weather turns cold."

"It seems to me," said the stranger with tears in his eyes. "That none of you can help me. The only angle on this here proposition, but I know what I can do, and I think I will do it."

"What's that?" asked the three in chorus.

"I'll wait for the judge to come."

PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION DEAF TO THREE SERVICE CHARGE APPEALS

Insists That It Is Best Way to Equally Distribute Certain Part of Gas-Producing Costs—Matter to Go to Supreme Court.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 17.—Complaints by Little Falls, Ilion and Mohawk against the Utica Gas and Electric Company over a service charge for gas have been dismissed under orders by the public service commission, second district, issued today.

It is understood that following the orders the question of the reasonableness of a service charge by gas and electric companies will be taken to the supreme court for a determination.

No complaint was made that the increased income from the increased commodity charge and the new service charge combined would give the company a revenue which would yield more than a fair, reasonable return, says Commissioner George R. Van Namee in an opinion upon which the commission's order was based.

The company denied that the service charge was unjust and unreasonable and the question, says Commissioner Van Namee, is squarely before the commission as to whether the company can divide its charges for the services rendered by it into two parts.

1—A uniform charge called a service charge for all customers based on an equal division of the amount of return to which the company is entitled from certain items of operation, which items are common to all customers alike irrespective of the amount of gas used, and

2—A charge based upon the quantity of gas used by each customer, the two charges constituting the entire rate to be paid.

Commissioner Van Namee defines the principle of the service charge, stating that its employment has resulted from the realization that there should be recognized in the fixing of gas and electric rates the fact that there are certain items of expense involved in the production and distribution of these articles which are not in proportion to the number of units supplied to the individual customer.

"If it is assumed," says Commissioner Van Namee, "that the only just and reasonable rate is a uniform price for each and every cubic foot of gas supplied a customer, regardless of every other consideration, there is no justification for a service charge. But this is not the conclusion of those who have studied and investigated the subject most thoroughly. It is but just that each customer should only pay for what he receives and the imposition of a service charge on all alike to cover those items which apply to all alike seems best calculated to attain that end."

Commissioner Van Namee says students of public utility questions generally, law making bodies and public service commissions have approved the principle of the service charge, while there seems to be no decision to the contrary.

"The reasonableness of the amount of the service charge," says Commissioner Van Namee, "must await a subsequent determination and the commission here decides only that the imposition of the service charge is not improper, unfair, unreasonable or illegal. Accordingly orders should be entered dismissing the complaints."

Washington, Feb. 17.—The United States is woefully unprepared for offensive or defensive naval operations on the Pacific, according to official reports on file at the navy department today. These reports in which the highest naval officers concur, show that while congress was granting money with a liberal hand to increase the strength of the fleet and improve naval bases on the Atlantic coast, the Pacific was neglected, with the result that today when the interest of the world is centered there, our facilities are inadequate to care for the Pacific fleet in peace and are hopelessly insufficient for the entire fleet in case it became necessary to carry on extended operations.

The Pacific coast is lacking in naval, submarine and destroyer bases, dry docks, berthing space, yards and storage facilities, and naval authorities agree that with the inadequate facilities at Hawaii, Guam and the Philippine Islands, the two latter possessions would almost certainly be seized in case of war and Hawaii would be seriously endangered. Congress repeatedly has been apprised of the navy's needs on the Pacific coast and both the Helm commission and the board headed by Rear Admiral Parks made elaborate reports on the necessity for proper development of bases at Pearl Harbor, Guam and Manila.

"If our big ships got into trouble in the Far Pacific," said one high naval official today, "I don't know what we would do with them. The old floating drydock at Olongapo is only 500 feet long and is practically worthless, so far as our modern battleships are concerned."

Secretary Daniels today declined to discuss possibilities in the Far East, but declared that naval conditions are substantially as stated in reports. The attention of congress, the secretary stated, has been called to these conditions by the representatives of various investigating boards and by his own reports.

Excelsior Home Ball.

Keeps Up Company's Reputation for Enjoyable Events.

The tenth annual masquerade ball of Excelsior Home Company, No. 4, at Lythian Hall, Wednesday evening, was attended by a crowd of young people that filled the hall and the costumes were of many kinds and styles. A large number being beautiful, Balfe's orchestra kept the dancers busy continuously with their latest dance numbers, and the little Trio and "Just Two From Newburgh" entertained with vanderbille acts that pleased and called for encores. Miss Allen was awarded a silk umbrella as a prize for wearing the most attractive costume, and Ben Norris a silver cigarette case for wearing the most comical costume. The prize winners were a couple from Newburgh. The judges were Joseph McNeill, James Hobbs, Howard Van Kleeck, Clarence Briggs and Arthur Kuntz. It was held after midnight when the orchestra played "Home, Sweet Home," and the thirty or forty couples, who stayed to the finish were both to depart they having such an enjoyable time.

and set his opinion on the question," replied the stranger, with some hope in his voice.

"Then you had better sleep another night over it," replied the three, "for the judge is too busy now to hand down a judicial opinion in the matter."

"That's all right," agreed the stranger. "I have waited a week already trying to solve it myself, and I guess I can wait another day."

and to left the hall and headed in the direction of the court house room.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Although President Wilson is anxious to participate in the inaugural ceremonies, it was learned today that his participation probably will be limited to the drive to the capital with the presidential elect.

The platform from which President-elect Harding will deliver his inaugural address and upon which he will take the oath, is elevated and will be reached by a steep flight of stairs. Although in the past some of the outgoing presidents have taken seats on the platform with the incoming president, it is doubted whether President Wilson will do so.

The president, although on the road to recovery, is still far from a well man and thus far he has not shown capability of exerting efforts such as would be required in climbing the steps to the inaugural platform. In the White House the president-elect was on an elevator. An elevator was installed for him on the presidential yacht Maryland.

There is an elevator in his new home. When he attends the theater he enters by a side door which eliminates the necessity of climbing steps.

After riding in the capital with President-elect Harding it is believed that the president will either be taken to the elevators in the senate side of the capital where he can readily reach the president's room, and then such papers as are there for his signature or he will be driven directly to his new home without waiting for the ceremonies to be completed.

U. S. BEST OFF
OF ANY NATION

May Federal Reserve Report, which, however, warns Congress not to Monkey With Reserve Act and Other Agencies That Have Contributed to Good Result.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Congress was warned yesterday that the government's credit must be conserved and the basis of American prosperity protected, if European economic pitfalls are to be avoided. The danger signal was hoisted by Governor W.

P. G. Harding, of the federal reserved board. Governor Harding submitted to congress his annual report upon the operations of the federal reserve system. He traced the commmercial reactions of the past and present, the upsets due to the war, now being borne by the government.

Governor Harding told congress that although the entire world has been shaken by commercial and financial upheaval, with disturbances still pronounced in many countries, the United States is much stronger in financial resources and "much more self-contained" today than any other country on the globe.

But however great the economic strength of the United States may be,

it should be remembered that the country's expenditures during the war, and the very profound modifications which have occurred in its economic system, have had such far-reaching results as to make it imperative that the utmost care be taken to conserve our credit and protect the basis of our prosperity, if we are to avoid the extreme conditions which prevail in other countries," said Harding.

Citing the financial chaos now existing in many countries, Governor

Harding said the solvency and financial stability of some of them depend in large measure upon the United States.

Governor Harding thereby pointed the way to a more vigorous handling by this government of some of its foreign debtors. His intimation was strong that the great need abroad at the moment is the adoption of national measures of "self help."

Tracing the steps through the acute stage of transition from war time delirium to normal conditions of peace, Governor Harding observed that the United States has suffered least of all world powers. The effects of readjustment, he said, have been more drastic in other countries, notably European nations where inflation of bank credit and currency was more pronounced than in the United States.

Business in the United States has begun to adjust itself to new conditions, he said, and is preparing to proceed upon a "sounder and saner" basis. The most critical and trying stage of readjustment has passed, he said. Of the future, he said:

"Now it is generally recognized that the crisis has been passed. The country has regained a more normal state of mind, which is of first importance in working back toward normal conditions. Looking to the future a spirit of great confidence prevails.

"Periods of rapid readjustment such as were witnessed during the past year have invariably been accompanied by severe financial disturbances or money panics. The absence of such developments in the United States must be regarded as the strongest proof of the efficiency and stability of our present banking system, and of its ability to absorb the shock and avert disaster."

CANCELLING CONTRACTS

Cancellation of contracts has reached a serious stage in the United States and in the opinion of many business associations there can be no return to normal business conditions until business contracts are again regarded as sacred.

Cancellation of orders or contracts may be necessary in many cases. In a greater number of cases the only motive is to shift prospective losses. The war brought unprecedented prosperity to many firms and individuals. Increased demand for labor and materials raised the price of almost everything. Old contracts could not be continued except at a loss, and besides we were at war. The new contracts guaranteed profits to the seller; the buyer advanced his prices to the consumer and was insured of a continued profit; the consumer was getting bigger pay; in general, the evils arising from contract-breaking were overlooked.

Now the war has ended; prices have begun to decline; the orgy of extravagant buying has ceased. Continuation of contracts may mean a loss to the seller or buyer. Anyway, the public will not pay war prices, except where compelled to do so by government regulation, as in the case of railroad fares which the government has made still higher. Because prices are in their natural process of deflation, labor is receiving less than the wartime scale, and consequently spends less. Somebody must stand a loss. This loss cannot be passed on to the consumer but must fall on the manufacturer or dealer, or both.

During a period of unparalleled prosperity, contracts were broken to insure profit. Now they are broken to insure a continuation of profit. In many cases the individual or firm regards war-time profits as a standard to be maintained forever. Any less figure is regarded as a loss.

Contracts form the basis of human society and are the foundation of all business except barter. Until the government undertook to guarantee profits, business was dependent on ordinary fluctuation of production costs, of supply and demand. There were profits and losses and both buyer and seller took the bitter with the sweet. Business acumen had its rewards. As soon as the elements of chance and judgment are eliminated and in their place are substituted contracts that insure only profit, business ceases to rest on the firm foundation of centuries. It becomes a one-sided affair and opens the door to moral anarchy. When good faith and confidence are lost, not only business but society suffers.

The state legislature may decide not to repeal the daylight saving law but there are indications that if it fails to do so, it will pass a local option bill by which communities may decide for themselves whether they want God's time or state time next summer. It is proposed also to limit the operation of daylight saving to five months instead of seven. Local option in the choice of daylight working hours will not affect Nature. The sun will rise and set at its accustomed time, dew will fall or dry up regardless of the time shown by the clock. Rural communities will have as much trouble adjusting themselves to daylight saving time, especially in the harvest season, as in former years. Railroads will continue to be run according to the clock but whether the hands are set ahead one hour or remain where they are will make a difference only to the people who have business with the railroad. Many cities undoubtedly will adopt daylight saving time, some villages and rural communities may do so, some communities which have consistently opposed the plan, except National daylight saving, will continue to follow the old time. There will not be any serious friction between communities over changing the hands of the clock since community will be governed by its own needs and will be a law unto itself. Changing time watches, each showing a different time, will not be such help to anybody, but practical adjustment showing which kind of time has been adopted by various communities will be almost indispensable to travelers. Maps printed in two colors showing the information desired should prove extremely popular.

The New York city traction problem and its proposed solution by legislation suggested by Governor Miller will result at least in better understanding between the average New Yorker and the up-state resident. In many respects they are still comparative strangers. When Governor Miller's program was first announced, one New York official hotly declared that New York city must not have its destinies shaped by gentlemen "from the Catskills and the Adirondacks." That expresses the general attitude of metropolitan newspapers which are largely responsible for the New York belief that beyond Yonkers lies the wilderness. But now one Manhattan newspaper admits that "From the northern edge of Van Cortlandt Park to the St. Lawrence is by no means one unbroken stretch of forest, ploughed land and bucolic civilization." The same paper adds that "Of the 4,900,000 people who live outside of Greater New York, only a tiny fraction over one-half is truly rural. The state as a whole is three-quarters urban." Realization of this fact will help materially to clear up confusion and misunderstanding. New York begins to realize that up-state cities also have traction problems whose only difference from those of the Greater City problems is in size. "Urban population," says the writer already quoted, "is apt to cherish a good many of the sentiments or prejudices with regard to public utility corporations held by the people of the metropolis." This is an encouraging sign of future better state-wide understanding. When people meet on a common ground, with a common grievance, comprehensive betterments are more easily brought about. But first there must be closer acquaintance. Greater New York is making headway.

SAUGORTIES

Saugerties, Feb. 17.—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Washburn and Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Reed left Wednesday for Miami, Fla., where they will spend several weeks.

Miss Edith Van Gelder of Market street is spending a few days in New York city.

Mrs. John Schoonmaker and daughter, Mildred, of Washington avenue have returned from Liberty, N. Y.

Samuel Fluecker, manager of the A. & P. Company store on Main street, has purchased of Isaac Lazarus a house on Washington avenue.

The K. of C. No. 5 of Poughkeepsie will meet the Saugerties A. C. five on the Orpheum court next Monday night.

Miss Hilda Jarman of Main street spent Tuesday evening in Kingston.

BODIES BROUGHT HOME

From France in Efficient and Dignified Manner.

Samuel Hurvitch of Boston, Massachusetts, who went to Hoboken, New Jersey to claim the remains of Joseph Hurvitch, his soldier nephew, of Duluth, Minnesota, has voluntarily paid a tribute to the Quartermaster Corps of the Army for the way in which the body was handled on its last long journey from France to Minnesota.

"When I went to Hoboken," said Mr. Hurvitch, "I found that the relatives of the returning soldier had received every possible courtesy and attention, and the orderly, dignified way in which the bodies were brought home, appealed to me very strongly. Everything was like clockwork; I did not have to wait and all the details were arranged exactly as I wished them."

"It was an impressive sight at the pier where the bodies are received. I saw more than 2,400 coffins each covered with the flag lying in long rows with sentinels on guard. Our government certainly spares no expense to do everything possible to lighten the burden which the war has brought to relatives of the dead."

The young soldier was a private in the Headquarters Company, 348th Infantry, 82nd Division, who died near Bordeaux in 1918. He was buried at Duluth in the Jewish Cemetery under the auspices of the American Legion.

PRESBYTERIANS DINE AND LEARN

Of Work of Church Among Lumberjacks of Adirondacks, and the Forestry of City of Cleveland, Wednesday Evening.

Some of the work being accomplished by the Presbyterian Church in America was outlined by the Rev. J. B. Hayden of Cleveland, Ohio, and the Rev. Mr. Maddox, a "sky pilot" among the lumberjacks of the Adirondack mountains, Wednesday evening in the chapel of the Roundout Presbyterian Church. The addresser was preceded by the family supper which was served in the chapel from 6 to 6:30 o'clock. That evening the supper committee was composed of the ladies of the church reading of Pomeroy's, and they had prepared one of the finest menus yet offered in the church for twenty-two cents a plate. The main dish was meat pie with rolls, coffee, tea or cocoa, cabbage salad and jelly, while the dessert was apple pie with ice cream. The Rev. Mr. Hayden and the Rev. Mr. Maddox had been sent to the church from the synod to outline the work being accomplished by Presbyterians to make America a better place to live in. The Rev. Mr. Hayden is accomplishing a great work in the city of Cleveland where he had been called to the pastorate of the church, located in a neighborhood that had once been filled with American families, but which had gradually become the dwelling place of foreigners. The members of the church had moved to other localities in the city, and the membership had dwindled. This had caused the synod of Ohio and the church authorities to try out the plan of getting in close personal touch with the foreign element.

How the work had succeeded and what was being, and had been, accomplished was told in an interesting manner by Mr. Hayden, who proved to be one of the most interesting speakers heard in the church in some time. The members of the church, and the various Presbyterian Church organizations in Ohio had underwritten the undertaking to the amount of $150,000 to be used in a five years campaign. The church has a force of seven paid workers.

The Rev. Mr. Maddox, brought an illustrated message of the work of the church in the Adirondack mountain lumber camps. The pictures shown were photographs taken from life, and showed the lumberjack at work and at play. Various pictures of the lumber camps were shown and also interior views of the camps, showing the bunk houses and the cooking shanties. How the lumber was cut in the forests and gotten to the water's edge and there floated to the lumber mill was also shown, and at the close of Mr. Maddox's address the audience had a much clearer idea of just what the life of a lumberjack meant. The Presbyterian Church has five "sky pilots" at work in that field, and they get in touch with six thousand lumberjacks during the winter and preach to them the word of God.

Both speakers of the evening were introduced by the Rev. Dr. Ellis, pastor of the church, who spoke briefly of the work the speakers were engaged in.

The meeting closed with singing, to the tune of Materna, "The Parish of the Pines" written by Douglas Malloch, the lumberman's poet, the words of the last verse being:

"Yet Word of God is Word of God
In camp or pulpit told,
And men of forest and of sod Await the story old.
'Tis time to hew away the sin
That now the soul confines
And let a little sunshine in The Parish of the Pines."

GERMAN PROPAGANDA

Said to be Pouring Into Alsace and Lorraine.

Re. Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Feb. 17.—According to Excelsior, German propaganda in Alsace and Lorraine is taking vast proportions. Thousands of pamphlets containing abusive articles against France are pouring into the two provinces weekly.

Newspapers published in Baden-Baden, considered as the capital of German propaganda, publish similar articles and urge Germans who have remained in Alsace and Lorraine to help the propaganda bureau. The Heimatsdienst, which is the principal organ of propaganda, and which the French newspapers say is evidently inspired by official circles, publishes figures showing that more than twenty-eight million Germans live in foreign countries and that this force should be used in propagating German culture.

The figures show that there are more than 3,000,000 Germans in the United States, 600,000 in Central and South America, 115,000 in Belgium, 1,000,000 in Czechoslovakia, 700,000 in Japan, 300,000 in Hungary and 6,000,000 in Austria. Thus the propaganda services understand that the whole population of the latter country are German and that there can be little wonder that the service boasts the union of Austria and Germany. Likewise, the Heimatsdienst says all the population of Banat and Luxemburg is German.

In Germany illustrated books, printed containing souvenirs of Alsace and Lorraine and are distributed to former inhabitants of these provinces. These books carry a message from Hindenburg in which the former army commander in chief promises the return of the provinces. Another review, by Hermann, is dated by General Ernst von Reventlow. It contains every week and apart from the criticism of French administration prints letters, it is supposed to receive from Alsatians complaining of being separated from the "homeland." It also attempts to prove the German race of the Alsatians and says the province is being reclaimed ethnically.

Good Service Impossible Without Fair Rates

The question of gas service is of vital interest to the whole city. As such, it should have the attention and intelligent support of all fair-minded business men in the community.

If through a short-sighted policy of allowing the gas company to be "starved" by an inadequate rate to a point where it has no credit; cannot attract new capital with which to improve and enlarge its plant; cannot give good service—then the whole city suffers.

The enormous increase in the cost of coal to the householders has resulted in increased demands for gas so that the safe limit of output in our gas works has been reached and new equipment is now required.

Civic organizations throughout the country have recognized the importance of the truth. Through resolutions and by active cooperation, they have assisted public utility companies in their efforts to secure rates that would enable them to maintain good service in spite of enormous increases in costs.

The business of your gas company is an open book. It is all a matter of public record.

We are willing and anxious to give good service, but as you know, that is impossible unless the rate is commensurate with the cost.

For those who appreciate the best of everything in their home there is but one light—Electric light. It is clean and hygienic, it eliminates fire risk; it is clear, soft, radiant, bright and beautifying to every part of the home.

Every socket in the wired home offers all the convenience that electricity can give; power for the motor washer, heat for the flat iron, curling iron, toaster, broiler or warming pad—none expensive in maintenance.

It is a simple matter to install electricity in any house. No plaster is torn from the walls; no floor and wall decorations are disfigured. There is no fuss and bother. The job will be completed in about two days.

It will afford us pleasure to explain our proposition in detail.

FARMERS' ALMANAC

From United States Government Contains Fully Advised.

Beware of false prophets. Don't plant by the moon; get the best seed and prepare the soil best, then plant when soil and moisture conditions are right. "Keeping farm accounts never worried Adam; but he was only a gardener." The owner of a scrub bull should have a leather medal made from the bull's hide. These bits of farm advice are contained in "An Agricultural Almanac for 1921" issued by the United States department of agriculture to rural farmers to do the right thing at the right time and to tell them where to get more information on agricultural subjects.

The almanac, which appears in Farming Bulletin 1240, is published, the department says, in response to a large demand from farmers for a calendar of work showing the best time for new farm facts. Seasonal advice and suggestions are given on such topics as the weather, farm animals, fruit, live stock, and farm operations, marketing, wild life and weeds. References to other publications of the department tell where to get detailed information on each subject.

A version on "Farm Notes" also contains farm laws and gives tables and directions for such things as mixing stock feed, fertilizers, and spray nozzles; weights of seed and grain, and other information needed by farmers and their families. A limited number of copies are available for distribution by the United States department of agriculture and may be had upon application.

ARMY NURSE TRAINING

Two Hundred May Now Take Course at Army School.

Two hundred openings exist for young women ambitious to take a three years course in nursing in the army school of nursing. It was announced today by the army medical department that applications for admission should be made at once.

Applicants will be given consideration if physically matured, unmarried and otherwise qualified. It is expected that these vacancies will be filled rapidly and only women of high type, well recommended and holding certificates of graduation from a first class high school will be chosen. The government allows the young women students $24.00 per month which is calculated to cover the cost of uniform and other incidentals. A version on "Farm Notes" also dry are supplied by the army. Those appointed to take the course will be furnished with government transportation and sent to Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D. C. from states east of the Mississippi and to Letterman General Hospital, from western states. The program of instruction is based on the standard curriculum for nurses of nursing education, 1918.

The course extends over a period of three years and covers surgical nursing, including orthopedic, eye, ear, nose and throat, medical nursing, including obstetrics, pediatrics, and mental diseases. Experience in production, inspection and distribution of supplies is given. Applications will be received only in the office of Major John C. Stinson, Army School of Nursing, Washington, D. C.

RAIL STORMED; NEGRO BURNED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Athens, Ga., Feb. 17.—Quiet prevailed here today following the exciting scenes of yesterday and last night when John Lee Eberhart, negro, was burned to death while a crowd of from 2,000 to 3,000 people stood watch over the funeral pyre. Eberhart was accused of murdering Mrs. Walter E. Lee and the excitement followed the killing of the woman in Oconee county. Eberhart fled to the home of a friend in Athens, where he was captured by officers. As the fury of the people increased, the negro was taken to the jail in the top of the court house. A large mob soon was surging about the court house and breaking through the doors, swarmed up the stairs and into the elevators, gaining entrance to the cell where the cowering black was held. Eberhart was taken and thrown into the street, where he was followed by a number of other machines he was taken to the scene of his crime. There the black was chained to a tree and wood was piled around him over which gasoline had been poured and roasted to death, screaming and writhing in agony. Mrs. Lee, wife of an Oconee farmer, had been shot to death by the discharge of both barrels of a shot gun into her back, while she was in the way to milk the cows.

48 IMMIGRANTS HAD "COOTIES"

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Feb. 17.—Health inspectors were busy early today examining 48 immigrants who had arrived at Grand Central station from Boston. Of the first 500 inspected, 48 were sent to a "detraining" station. Inspectors of a steamship company who had accompanied the immigrants from Boston, were forced to undergo examination because they had been exposed to possible typhus carriers. They protested vigorously but the New York authorities were obdurate and proceeded with the instructions. Another fully developed case of typhus in New York had been reported to the authorities today, increasing their anxiety.
Bernard Bernard, 38, a resident of the Bronx, was found to have the disease. An investigation was being made today to learn how he contracted it.

Services At City Home.
The Christian Endeavor Society of the Fair Street Reformed Church will on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock visit the City Home and hold services. The subject will be "Prayer," and the leaders will be Miss Minnie Swart and Miss Winifred Love. On Monday evening an entertainment will be given under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society at the Fair Street Reformed Church by Arthur Hale Rice, an entertainer of note who has appeared in this city before and who will be assisted by Stephen Griffing on the piano. Tickets may be secured of any of the Endeavorers.

Divorce Granted.
Pearl Terwilliger Robinson of Thompsonville, Conn. was granted a divorce from Granville Robinson on the charge of desertion at a session of the superior court at Hartford, Conn., Feb. 4, 1921. They were married in New York state in January 1909 and the husband deserted her on August 15, 1916. The present whereabouts of Robinson are unknown. In addition to the divorce, Mrs. Robinson was granted the custody of her child.

WILSON TO VETO NEW TARIFF

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Feb. 17.—The temporary tariff bill, passed by the senate last night is expected to go to conference today and to reach the president late this week. The president has indicated to members of congress that he intends to veto the bill.
The president is expected to make the veto message the vehicle for an attack upon the Republican tariff policy and for a statement of his own views on not only the question of tariff, but on the remedies which should be adopted by congress to meet the present situation caused by the drop in prices of farm products.

BULLET MET BULLET.

In Barrel of Man Fighting Revolver Duel.
By Telegram to The Freeman.
Bostwick, Ga., Feb. 17.—A rather serious shooting affray occurred at the Morgan county convict camp near here when two guards, Moore and Bramlet engaged in a discussion over some trivial matter. The argument became so heated both men drew guns and began firing at each other from a distance of about eight or ten feet.

Moore received two wounds in the head and Bramlet two in the right arm. That both were not instantly killed is perhaps due to a very unusual occurrence, the like of which was never before heard of here, and is without counterpart, so far as known.

One of the belligerents was using a .45-calibre gun carrying a steel jacket bullet and the other a .38-calibre carrying a lead bullet. Both were five shooters and had each been fired four times. When the fifth shot was fired the bullet from the .38 entered the muzzle of the .45 and came in contact with the bullet of the .45 that had proceeded about three inches in the barrel on his way out. When the bullets met they lodged and had to be removed with a punch. It is thought that both men will recover.

TRADE IN RUSSIA May Help Germans Pay Big Indemnity.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Feb. 17.—The proposal that Russia be considered part of the "German economic sphere" in order to assist Germany in the payment of her war indemnity probably will be made at the international conference which will open in London on March 1. It was learned from an authoritative source today.

It is confidently expected that either "economic favors" will be granted to Germany in Eastern Europe. Another proposal that is expected is that German credit be monopolized by an international loan by the United States and neutral countries to which Germany shall pay annuities.

GERMANY PROPOSES Plan to Paris For Amelioration of Indemnity.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 17.—Germany made her first move today in an effort to ameliorate the allies' war indemnity decision. Proposals that were worked out over the week-end were sent to Paris. It is understood that Germany contends that the discrepancy between her national revenues and expenditures shows the impossibility of meeting the allies' demands. However, the promise is given that the German government will continue to increase taxes.
Entente officials are most hopeful that the Germans will adopt a "compromising" attitude and that an agreement will be reached when the reparations conference opens here next month.

BOLSHEVIST REVOLT Planned For Several Countries, Say Belgians.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Feb. 17.—Evidence that a Bolshevik revolution has been planned for France, Holland, Belgium and Germany, has been found by the Belgian police, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Brussels today.
The dispatch said: "Belgian police in searching the homes of Communists found documents in which was contained an order from Moscow for plans to launch a huge revolutionary movement in a few weeks in France, Belgium, Germany and Holland."

Indian Republican Literature.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Toronto, Ont., Feb. 17.—A large quantity of literature, dealing with the republican movement in India, consigned from the Young India League in New York city to Andrew Glynn of this city was seized today by the authorities and will be held pending a decision as to its legal position by the commissioner of the Royal Canadian mounted police.

Sherridan and Cumberland.

The story is told of Cumberland that he took his children to see "The School for Scandal" and when they laughed related them, saying that he saw nothing to laugh at in this comedy. When this was reported to Sheridan, his comment was: "I think that Cumberland's last tragedy and his last comedy are all the same through."—Henry A. Brown in "The Connecticut Wits and Other Essays."

Town of Aintab.Americans Are Gladly at Work Helping to Rebuild Once Prosperous Little City in Eastern Syria.

Clustering red-tiled roofs, white stone walls, the fresh green of fragrant poplars, and minarets rising here and there in slender beauty—this is the picture greeting the visitor approaching through the mountains rimming it about, the once important town of Aintab, which nestles at the foot of Mount Taurus on the eastern coast of Syria, says the Christian Science Monitor.

Aintab was not only beautiful, but prosperous in those days before the Turk invaded the land, swept it bare of its industry, scattered its people to the four corners of the earth, and deported them inland to the desert or outward to the fringe of seacoast.

Today, however, as one approaches more closely to the town, one sees that there are gaps in the rows of white stone houses, that many of those picturesque red-tiled roofs are falling in, that many of the houses are empty and decaying, and that the town which looked so beautiful from afar is really a shell, an echo of that once busy, flourishing Aintab which with its 45,000 inhabitants, formed an important link in the caravan route from Constantinople, and was known far and wide for its trade in tanned leather and its great cattle market.

When the first party of Americans from the Near East relief reached Aintab after the Turkish military had swept on its devastating course, the wanderers, hearing that help was to be had, began to come straggling back. They must be fed and housed, their homes remade, schools rebuilt for their children, and places must be provided for the little ones left homeless. Promptly the work was begun and took on at once a twofold significance: not only did it furnish employment for the workmen, but also shelter for their families. The women found employment in weaving, and turned the wool, which is plentiful in Syria, into fabrics much needed by those who had lost all their possessions, including clothing. Some of them were russ, and a ready market was found for them, often among the American relief workers.

Slowly but surely Aintab is coming into her own once more. New Armenian houses are beginning to rise from the ashes of the old; refugees are pouring back from desert and mountains and the shore of the sea. And once more the cries of merchants resound as they call their wares, their rags and scraps of household commodities, in the bazaar in the center of the town.

Pointer for the Housewife.
The woman who reduces herself to a frazzle and her family to nervous wrecks does it by trying to do each separate piece of work to perfection. We all like a perfectly appointed household, but it is vastly more important that a house should be comfortable, where the family likes to gather, than that no grain of dust should ever be seen. Housework, done right, is more healthful than almost any other work. Making beds is an excellent exercise for a sluggish liver, but don't forget that a tired housewife may be rested and refreshed by a brisk walk in the fresh air. Fatigue is often caused from bad air, and with the lungs filled with pure air the body is able to throw off the poisons.

Pick out the important things to be done daily and do them, reserving time and strength for these things. The important thing is meals. They mean more to the family than anything else, as they are the fuel which keeps you going.—Exchange.

Oil Prospects in Australia.
Analyses of petroleum gas at Roma, Queensland, have been made which show it to be considerably richer than the gas from most petroleum wells. Using American standards of pressure and temperature in absorption tests, it is estimated that the Roma gas will yield 2 pints of petrol per 1,000 cubic feet. The mines department has decided to continue boring below the gas strata. In the belief that oil will be found. Difficulty in obtaining casing is delaying further boring at Marburg, Queensland. The bore is now over 400 feet down, penetrating sandstones and shales which contain productive coal measures, while tests of a sample of the sludge from the bottom of the bore reveal a small percentage of oil.

School for Customers.
Once a week an Ohio department store conducts what it calls a "buying school." The public is invited to attend this school, which is conducted by experienced salesmen who talk on a variety of subjects interesting to shoppers—such, for instance, as methods of testing different brands of materials for quality, strength, and so on. Every once in a while the management arranges to have representatives from different concerns come to the school and lecture.—System.

DEER WITH RICK,
ONLY FOR SICK

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 17.—Many law chiefs are about ready to let down the bars for beer "with a kick." But only for the sick.

The thirsty must have an stimulant for which foaming lager may prove a sure cure. The doctor must be the judge and upon his honest judgment depends the size and frequency of the dose.

Attorney General Palmer today is expected to say the word that will scrap some of the prohibition bureau's rules. These rules have allowed medicinal whiskey, but banned beer.

Dry law chiefs said that since the Volstead law imposed no limitation upon the amount of wine doctors may prescribe, there should be no limit upon beer, if doctors think it will benefit their patients.

"A Little Bird Told Me."

The common expression, "A little bird told me so," means that information respecting a matter has come to a person in some secret and perhaps mysterious manner. The saying is not from the twentieth verse of the tenth chapter of Ecclesiastes. The verse opens with a warning not to curse those in power, and even in thought "in thy bedchamber; for a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that

HARD TO KEEP
ALLIES TOGETHER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Paris, Feb. 17.—Although Premier Lloyd-George and Premier Briand have emphasized the solidarity and unity of England and France since the supreme council meeting, the Echo de Paris, a newspaper with official status of information, today hinted at a break.

"Official circles foresee a break at London because France will refuse to change the Paris agreement on German war indemnity," said this newspaper.

The Echo de Paris proposed that if Germany repudiated against paying $55,000,000,000 and a 15 per cent export tax that England take over German customs stations and France occupy German industrial cities.

The French socialist newspaper Humanite expressed the belief that the conference in London next week will not result in any decisive decisions.

The
LEGION

(Copy for This Department Supplied by The American Legion Headquarters)

HEAD OF AMERICANISM BOARD

Henry J. Ryan of Boston, Mass., is Named Chairman of Legion's Reorganized Commission.

Typical of the spirit of the American Legion is the appointment of Henry J. Ryan of Boston, Mass., a former apprentice seaman in the navy, to succeed Arthur Woods of New York, who was a colonel in the army and former police commissioner of New York city, as chairman of the Legion's reorganized Americanism commission, headquarters of which is at national headquarters at Indianapolis.

When the war broke out Mr. Ryan attempted to enlist several times in the army, but was refused because of his defective eyesight. At last the navy accepted him, but he was ordered to remain on shore duty. During the various drives for Liberty loans and war funds the newly appointed chairman acquired a national reputation as an orator, especially on subjects involving patriotism and Americanism.

Other members of the commission are: To serve one year, Florence H. LaGuardia, New York city; William B. Felt, Portland, Ore.; E. K. Bixby, Muskogee, Okla.; Edgar H. Baird, Philadelphia; Garland W. Powell, Cumberland, Md.; Richard F. Betts, Richmond, Va. To serve two years, Peyton H. Hope, Jr., Louisville, Ky.; A. H. Gensser, Bay City, Mich.; Col. Gordon Johnson, U. S. A., chief of staff to Gen. Leonard Wood, Fort Sheridan, Ill. To serve three years, Will Percy, Greenville, Miss.; Dwight Davis, St. Louis; F. O. Horton, Des Moines, Ia.; Lindsey Blayney, Houston, Tex.; and Leonard Withington, Honolulu, Hawaii.

It will be the Legion's aim under Mr. Ryan to co-ordinate and consolidate the activities for the promotion of Americanism of the Y. M. C. A., Red Cross, Knights of Columbus, Masons, Salvation Army, National Security league and many other organizations. To this end a conference will be held in Washington soon.

MAN OF TRAVEL EXPERIENCE

Samuel, Adjutant of Legion, Department of Kansas, Has Seen Much of Broad World.

After traveling over pretty much all of the continents of North America, Europe and Asia, Frank E. Samuel has settled down into a busy life as adjutant of the American Legion, department of Kansas, with headquarters in Topeka.

Samuel was born in Downing, Mo., in 1889. Armed with a college degree in 1912 he started out to see the world. What part of it he missed in civilian pursuits was made up to him when he joined the Third Hundred and Fifty-third infantry regiment of the famous Eighty-ninth division and served in all the battles in which that outfit participated.

Samuel, on his return to civil life, became assistant state adjutant of the Legion in Kansas and was made adjutant in September, 1919. He was recently re-elected for a two-year term.

It writes into the constitution the provisions of the county high school fund bill, which more than any other law has promoted the development of high schools in California. This bill is subject to repeal at any time by the legislature. Amendment 16 makes its repeal impossible except by vote of the people.

"It writes into the constitution the provisions of the county elementary school tax law, making its repeal impossible except by vote of the people."

"It applies the principle that money for school purposes should be raised by taxes levied according to ability to pay, and that funds thus raised should be distributed to school districts according to the needs of the children to be educated."

"It will require the hundreds of schools now closed for lack of teachers because of inadequate salaries. It will encourage some people to enter the normal schools to prepare for teaching. It will enable us to restore the efficiency of the schools."

"It guarantees that all the money raised by the state and 99 per cent of the money raised by the counties for school purposes shall be used for teaching. The money cannot be used for the construction of school buildings to satisfy community pride or the expense of the children. It must be used for education."

And Then One Thing.

Young Sam—Father, what is an appeal?

Father—An appeal, son, is a fellow who goes back on his own point of view.—Charles H. Johnson.

FAVORS CHANGE IN CONSTITUTION

Mandatory Provision Is Made for Adequate Salaries.

CARRIED BY BIG MAJORITY

New Constitutional Amendment Is Declared the Most Important School Measure Adopted Since State Was Admitted to the Union—Statewide Minimum Salary of $1,500 a Year Is Made Possible—Kindergarten Schools Become Part of State System.

The voters of California on November 2, by a majority of more than 200,000, adopted a constitutional amendment containing some of the most far-reaching educational provisions ever put into a state constitution. The amendment provides that hereafter California shall contribute, out of its treasury, toward the support of the public schools an amount which shall be not less than $90 per pupil per year in average daily attendance in the elementary and high schools, and that the counties must raise, in addition at least $50 per pupil in average daily attendance in the elementary schools and at least $80 per pupil in average daily attendance in the high schools.

It is also provided by the amendment that all of the school moneys contributed by the state and 60 per cent of the moneys raised by the counties must be used for the payment of teachers' salaries. California will thus be able to establish a statewide minimum salary of fully $1,300 a year. The amendment makes the kindergarten schools a part of the state school system, and provides for normal schools and teachers' colleges.

"NONPAREIL'S"
GRAVE A HOODOO

John L. Sullivan, Stanley Ketchel, Jim Jeffries, Terry McGovern, Frank Gotch and Jess Willard All Visited Famous Fighter's Grave and Nodded Afterward Fell From Their Championship Thrones.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Portland, Ore., Feb. 17.—Jack Dempsey is superstitious. The world's champion heavyweight admitted it on the occasion of his recent visit to this city when he staged an exhibition bout with Terry Keller, of New York.

At Mount Calvary Cemetery on the outskirts of Portland there is the grave of another Jack Dempsey, known to fans of another day as the nonpareil.

It was suggested to the champion that he make a pilgrimage to the tomb of the hero of the fighting arena of twenty-five years ago. Such, the modern Dempsey was told, is the custom rigidly adhered to by all great pugilists visiting this city.

The Dempsey who sent Jess Willard to the mat paled at the suggestion and said no, he guessed he wouldn't visit the resting place of that other Jack whose stout heart broke when Bob Fitzsimmons, the Cornishman, wrestled from his forehead the pugilistic crown. He sent, instead, a wreath of flowers to be laid on the grave of the nonpareil.

"Superstitious?" Dempsey was asked.

"Maybe I am," said Jack Dempsey. "Read the book."

John L. Sullivan, "noblest Roman of them all," who met all comers and laid them low, once came to Portland and paid his respects to the nonpareil. In Sullivan's very next fight "Jim" Corbett danced like a light-footed fawn around John L. and cut him to pieces with lightning blows. Exit, John L.

Stanley Ketchel, star middleweight, any time you say, bared his warrior's head at the grave of the nonpareil. Before Ketchel had a chance to enter a fighting ring again a bullet ended his spectacular career. Jim Jeffries, champion, accompanied by Frank Gotch, premier wrestler, stopped long enough in Portland to pick up easy money and then went to the grave of the nonpareil. And what did Jack Johnson do to Jeffries at Reno, the next stop on their tour? On the way to Reno, Gotch succumbed to sickness. Jeffries waited a bit longer before succumbing under the hammer blows of Jack Johnson.

"Terrible Terry" McGovern, star of the lightweight battalion, straightway lost the championship to Young Corbett. He had paid his tribute to the grave of the nonpareil.

And then came giant Jess Willard. Again the grave of the hero of the nineties worked its ominous influence, for a little later Willard lay a bruised and pathetic hulk, checking off the counts at Toledo.

Jack Dempsey shied from the grave of Jack Dempsey, the nonpareil. But he sent a wreath! This, at least, was recognition. Are wreaths in the category of ill omens? Page the wreaths!

Whole Meat Resembles Beef.
The meat of the whale extends in great boneless masses, in uniform quality, from the base of the skull to the tail fin. In appearance it is similar to beef, but is somewhat coarser in texture. Its flavor is said to suggest venison. One of the best "cuts" of the whale is the heart, which weighs 3,000 pounds.

COMMUNISTS
HERE REVIVING

Declares Attorney General Palmer, and Those Who Attack Him Are Ones Who Seek to Overthrow Government.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Feb. 17.—The "Communist Party" is renewing its activities throughout the United States and is threatening to become as active again as it was before the department of justice sought to stamp it out, Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer today declared.

Palmer resumed his defense of the department of justice and its bureau of investigation in conducting "red raids" when he reappeared before the senate judiciary committee which is considering the question of amnesty for Eugene V. Debs and others convicted of violations of the espionage and other war-time acts. "The chief object of the Communist Party now as it was when the department of justice proceeded against its leaders, is the destruction of the United States government, and the substitution in its stead of soviet rule," Palmer asserted.

He charged that critics of the methods employed by himself and the department of justice in dealing with men and women rounded up in the "red raids" were largely inspired by widespread propaganda circulated by those affiliated with the "Communist Party."

"We know who our principal detractors are," Palmer said. "We know they are the same men and women who have been preaching bolshevism and the overthrow of the United States government. They are becoming as bold and defiant as they were before we undertook in complete accordance with the laws of the United States to suppress, punish and deport persons advocating the destruction of our government and of officials of our government. The attacks made upon myself, and those associated with me in the attorney general's office and the department of justice, emanate from the same dark, devious sources as the attacks upon the government of the United States itself."

Palmer declared that Reds are not only active again in this country but that they will prove a "source of trouble" to the next administration. He presented a heap of documents and other papers to the committee to justify the wholesale arrests of those caught in the country-wide net thrown out by the department of justice a year or two ago for members of the "Communist Party" and for alleged "Reds."

Best Wood to Resist Decay.
The forest service says that this cannot be determined, since various species act differently in tropical and temperate climates. Lignum vitae probably comes nearer to living up to this term than any wood in the world. Generally speaking, the following woods may be classed as very durable: Black locust, cypress, greenheart, fig, gum vitae, mesquite, teak and the cedars.
